MASSIVE ATTACK

MASSIVE ATTACK is a solid table with continuous planks. The peculiarity of the table is the same thickness of the tabletop and the frame. A cable management system has been developed for the use as a conference table. The connections are located under a cover made of solid burnished brass. MASSIVE ATTACK can also be individually planned as a dining table and desk.

OHA-OFFICE HEINZELMANN AYADI

OHA is a Munich-based design studio founded by Sami Ayadi and Jan Heinzelmann. Their work ranges from classic product and furniture design to exhibition design, interior architecture, installation, and gallery work. Their design approach is characterized by a strong interest in contemporary design culture, combined with a strong knowledge of craftsmanship and a passion for new technologies and materials. In collaboration with Holzrausch, OHA has created various projects, including the worldwide LEICA Flagship Stores and the patented J*GAST system.
